St. Patrick's Day.

Mrs. I. J. Lindley gave a St. Patrick's Day party last Saturday evening, to about thirty guests. Each invitation was accompanied by a request to bring a reading or quotation apropos of the day and event. These were read at length after luncheon.

The refreshments were elaborately served, by Mesdames Theodore Tritsch, F. S. Case and J. C. Morgan, dressed as Irish maids, in white and green. An extensive menu, made up of dainty dishes disguised under such names as "Murphies," "Sham rocks," "Patrick's," "Blarney-Stones," etc., furnished some surprises, as they were ordered a la carte, and their composition was unknown until served. Ice cream and cake were served in appropriate designs. The dining table was tastefully decorated, the centerpiece being a nest with a rabbit peeping out. Candelabra, sham-rocks and potatoes were evident in the decorations. Mrs. Lindley proved herself an admirable hostess.

Junias.

Mrs. C. N. Bowen, a former member of the club, who has recently rejoined them, was hostess of the Junias, Monday evening, at their regular meeting. The subjects for the evening were sociological, Miss Vail reading a paper on the Tuskegee Institute and its founder, and Miss Ella Rochester an interesting disquisition on the Salvation Army and its work. Both were followed by general discussion. An elaborate turkey and oyster supper was served by the hostess at the conclusion of the program. Mesdames G. C. Weitzell and F. M. McKay were club guests.

Nondescripts.

Mrs. I. D. Kontner was hostess of the Nondescript Club at their regular meeting, on last Thursday. A St. Patrick's Day program was given, embracing appropriate readings and quotations in answer to roll-call, and special papers and readings by Mrs. J. B. Dollison and Mrs. J. C. Morgan. The rooms were tastefully decorated in honor of the Saint. Club guests were Mrs. Stetson, of Cincinnati, Mrs. Kontner, of Columbus, Mrs. Moses Strawn, Mrs. John Selb, Mrs. W. H. Cowell, and Miss Allie Smith.

White Goods and Under-Muslins Will be High.

That is—Unless You Buy Now.

Just before the advance in cotton we bought our big assortment of excellent undermuslins and white goods from one of the best makers in the business. Shortly after came the advance in cotton.

Didn't effect us. We had this order en route for us. At the present cotton price the amount we paid would hardly cover the cost of the fabrics used in their gowns you in this—we are going to sell every garment and every yard of white goods at the same low prices we purchased it at [excepting our usual small margin of profit.] Every reasonable, prudent woman will buy a supply for a "six month." It means a saving of a third and even a half.
